Think of lots of different types of homes and habitats!

People and animals live in all sorts of homes all over the world. Some have lots of space, some are high up or underground to keep away from danger, some need to stay warm or cool.

Write down or draw as many different types of homes as you can think of. What shapes and features (like doors, stairs, chimneys or windows) do they have? Why?

To get you started, you could think about:

- Who's home it is (maybe a worm, a fireman or a giraffe...).

- What kind of place it is (a city, the middle of a jungle, up a mountain, in a cloud, under the sea...).

- If it's a very cold or very hot environment (a desert, an oven, the Arctic, the Moon!).
