

Get on the case!

Draw an everyday object to investigate why it is the way it is, and what clues its features might reveal.

Who can it be used by?

What is it for?

What are the main features and why is it shaped that way?

Are there other objects in the same family?

What else could it be used for?

Can you name some other objects that have nothing to do with it?

Now add a new feature!

My new feature is:

Combine it with another object:

Now that you have thought about your object and how you could transform it...
